

Transits Reading for John Halloran For 10/31/2010 11:00:00 AMIntroduction

These are the transiting aspects that are within orb at the above time. For a full transits report, calculate a transits list.

Transiting AspectsSun conjunct Saturn: 0° 01' deg. orb, Separating

Duty and responsibility are the order of the day. It won't be much fun, but much can be accomplished.

Neptune trine Neptune: 0° 04' deg. orb, Separating

This transit occurs only once in your life (during your mid-fifties) and provides an opportunity for spiritual and emotional growth. You will see life in a much larger, cosmic sense now and will realize the vastness of the Universe and the importance of your role in it. You will feel more loving and compassionate toward those around you and will find it easier to see and feel things from their point of view. Therefore, you are more willing than usual to compromise and treat others in a loving, unselfish manner.

Your change in attitude toward others is a reflection of your enlarged sense of self. You understand that we are all connected spiritually and that what affects one also impacts us all. With this different perspective on life, you are more accepting and supportive of others, no matter how different their beliefs or lifestyle choices may be.

It is likely that you will be drawn to metaphysical or occult matters now, or possibly to some form of organized religion. You are highly intuitive and have many questions (and also many answers) about your role in a Greater Plan. Psychic or mystical experiences are common during this transit. Even if you are not interested in the metaphysical, you will experience a renewed idealism and dedication to making the world a more loving place. This is a good time to practice meditation and yoga.

You are highly creative and imaginative now, especially in the areas of art, music, photography or writing (particularly poetry). During this time you are very generous with loved ones and those you associate with on a daily basis. You are able to truly give unselfishly without keeping score as to who owes you for what favor. You know now that "what goes around, comes around" and don't expect an immediate payoff.

Transits Reading for John Halloran For 10/31/2010 11:00:00 AMMoon conjunct Pluto: 0° 25' deg. orb, Applying

Intense and normally hidden emotional patterns could emerge. Avoid obsessive possessiveness.

Mercury sextile Venus: 0° 57' deg. orb, Separating

This is a time to play hooky with someone very special. Fun and games are a diversion from the routine.

Neptune oppose Pluto: 1° 23' deg. orb, Applying

This transit occurs only once in a person's life, usually sometime around age 60. Because of circumstances in your life now, you will be forced to confront many of the things about yourself which you consider to be negative. The more you are willing to voluntarily confront revelations about yourself as they come up, the less traumatic they will be if exposed by others. Changes may be forced upon you now as you lose valued persons, situations or things from your life. It's up to you to make these changes as positive as possible.

Your interest in spiritual matters is enhanced by this transit, and you will broaden your perspective on the universe and your role in it. This spiritual enlightenment also is a source of comfort to you in these difficult times. Just be careful not to become totally dependent on your spiritual or religious beliefs to save you. Remember that God helps those who help themselves.

This is not a very productive transit on the material level, and in fact you may have difficulties in this area. Be careful to scrutinize every contract or agreement you enter into now, and if possible avoid doing so until this transit has passed. Not only is there a possibility of deception now, but also of simple misunderstandings. Keep your stress level down and take good care of yourself to protect your health.